

My family have traded here for six generations. My son and daughter are now with me as well.

Anything you want we try to get, unusual, different, feed the cultures of the world.

We do not sell cheap meat, but we do sell good meat cheap. That's one that my granddad came up with, about sixty years ago!

We make them feel friendly, ask them how their dog is or ask them how things are, you know. How things are going in their lives and cheer them up, basically it's a social event.

So I do like contact lenses, jewellery, hair extensions.

We do virtually everything you would need. If we don't sell it, you don't need it.

Hopefully I send everybody away with a smile on their face. We'll have a bit of a laugh, bit of a banter and hopefully sell you a book or two.

We've been trading on Preston Market since 1965. It's a family business.

Well you're meeting people. You get to eat delicious foods throughout the markets.

We're here rain or shine, doesn't matter what the weather is.

You'll see friends, you'll see friends meeting friends. It's one big hub, one big happy family.

You know when they walk through the door, and you know them and you say good morning to them, it's nice.

They don't just buy things they meet their friends, and it makes friends as well.
